Use Draft A, but move the Sept. 21st PD to March 15 or 22. That way we have 1 PD day per trimester.

What if we kept the Christmas Break shorter and had the shorter Spring Break. We could then leave before Memorial Day (if we could find a couple hours in the schedule to replace the last day)

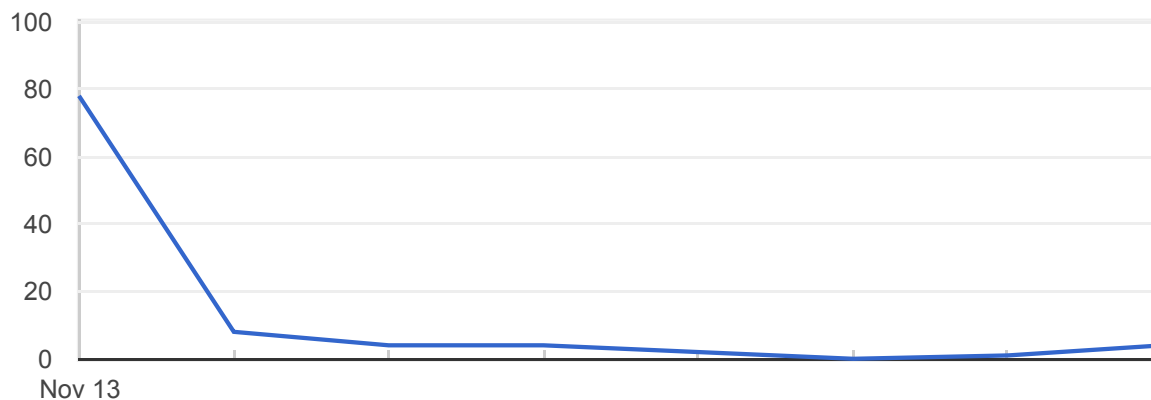

Start after Labor Day, I'd rather go to school in June than August. At the very least... a week later.

The only reason I didn't go with B is that I would prefer to be off January 2 rather than December 21. This would allow teachers to travel home after the main end-of-holiday rush. That said, A and B are both preferable to C in my opinion. Thanks for all of the thankless work you put into the calendar committee.

Start earlier so we can be out before Memorial Day.

School should not extend past memorial day.
